Request for Proposals

Community-Based Doula Program
Award Range $200-$250,000

Background

The Perinatal Equity Initiative (PEI) is a California statewide initiative that was signed into legislation in June 2018. This initiative was prompted by the high prevalence of premature births, low birth weights, sudden unexpected infant death (SUID)/infant mortality in Black infants. Black infant mortality rates are up to four times higher than the rates of other ethnic groups. Black mothers experiencing persistent inequality and health inequity affects prenatal health and birth outcomes. Contra Costa Health Services PEI will close gaps in care by providing a Community-Based Doula program to improve Black maternal and infant health outcomes. Best practices have demonstrated mothers receiving doula support services were four times less likely to have a low birth weight baby, two times less likely to experience birth complications, a decrease in cesarean births, and a healthy breastfeeding experience.

Family, Maternal, and Child Health Programs, within Contra Costa Health Services, is requesting proposals from community-based organizations to provide Community-based Doula program services under the Perinatal Equity Initiative in East Contra Costa County (ideally in Antioch or Pittsburg) and West County (ideally in Richmond).

Project Description

The program model selected for doula support services for Black birthing women in Contra Costa County is HealthConnect One® Community-Based Doula program. The concept of a free community-based doula program was decided based on findings from an environmental scan of doula services in the area, as well as feedback from community listening sessions and the Community Advisory Board. Main components of the program model are engaging members of the local community to train as doulas to provide support to underserved pregnant women. Services also include support through labor and delivery and during the early postpartum period.

Program implementation is expected to include serving 100 Black birthing women at birth centers serving Contra Costa County residents. Staff will be composed of doulas who are women of color, including a lead doula with administrative and personnel management skills.
Program services will begin no fewer than 30 days before the expected date of delivery. Doulas will be available to accompany the woman to prenatal appointments, help her to create a birth plan, provide emotional and advocacy support during labor and delivery, and to offer postpartum support including breastfeeding advocacy and support. Upon the mother’s request, the doula can assist with health care navigation and case management support. Services can be provided at home, in a clinic or hospital setting, or in a mutually agreeable space. Support may also be provided telephonically with clients.
