ANHYDROUS AMMONIA -- Chemical Fact Sheet

What is it? ¹	Anhydrous Ammonia is a colorless, corrosive and highly irritating gas with a sharp, suffocating odor. Its odor allows it to be noticed at low concentrations. It easily dissolves in water to form a solution called Ammonium Hydroxide or Aqueous Ammonia. Use of Aqueous Ammonia, where possible, is a safer alternative than Anhydrous Ammonia.
Where does it come from?	Ammonia is created by mixing nitrogen and hydrogen gases in the presence of a catalyst or as a by-product from the petroleum refining process.
What are the common uses for it?	Household cleaner as ammonia in water Fertilizer Refrigerant in industrial refrigerators and air conditioners Manufacturing of plastics, fibers, explosives and other chemicals Used in air pollution prevention equipment.
How is it transported in CCC?	Anhydrous Ammonia is shipped by truck.
How is it stored in CCC?	Anhydrous Ammonia is stored in pressurized tanks.

Health Hazards from Exposure

Exposure Route	Symptoms	First Aid
Inhalation	Irritates nose, throat and	Remove to fresh air. Get
(low concentrations)	lungs	medical attention if
	Burning Sensation	symptoms persist.
	Discomfort or difficulty in breathing, coughing
Inhalation	Burning sensation	Remove to fresh air, get
(high concentrations & prolonged exposure)	Coughing, gagging	medical attention including
	Chest pain	oxygen administration.
	Fluid in lungs	Initiate CPR if breathing has
	Suffocation, death	stopped.
Eyes	Severely irritates eyes	Rinse eyes with water for at
	Burning/discomfort	least 5 minutes. Seek
	Watering of eyes	medical attention.
	Eye burns
Skin	Irritates skin	Wash skin with soapy water.
	Burning/discomfort	Seek medical attention for all
	Skin burns	but minor exposure.
