YOUR RIGHT TO HAVE AN ADVANCE DIRECTIVE

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO AN ADVANCE DIRECTIVE.

You have the right to have an advance directive. An advance directive is written instruction about your health care that is recognized under California law. It includes information that states how you would like health care provided or says what decisions you would like to be made, if or when you are unable to speak for yourself. You may sometimes hear an advance directive described as a living will or durable power of attorney.

An advance directive is designed to allow people to have control over their own treatment, especially when they are unable to provide instructions about their own care. It is a legal document that allows people to say, in advance, what their wishes would be, if they become unable to make health care decisions. This may include such things as the right to accept or refuse medical treatment, surgery, or make other health care choices. In California, an advance directive consists of two parts:

1. Your appointment of an agent (a person) making decisions about your health care; and
2. Your individual health care instructions

California law defines an advance directive as either an oral or written individual health care instruction, or a power of attorney (a written document giving someone permission to make decisions for you). All Mental Health Plans are required to have advance directive policies in place. This means that Contra Costa County is required to provide you, or any adult beneficiary, with written information on their advance directive policies and a description of applicable state law upon request.

If you would like a packet of these written materials, please ask at the front desk of your clinic.
