School-Based Health Clinics

Public Health Clinic Services, a program of Contra Costa Health Services (CCHS), provides school-based health services to children and youth who are 20 years of age or younger at more than 30 campuses in Contra Costa County.

The Antioch, John Swett, Liberty Union High School, Mt. Diablo, Pittsburg and West Contra Costa school districts all work closely with CCHS to increase on-campus access to medical, dental, mental health and preventative services for students. Availability of services varies by site.

Increasing access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services for children and teens throughout school sites within Contra Costa County.
Dental services include dental exams, x-rays, cleanings, sealants, fluoride, and fillings. These services are provided in a limited number of schools, and are available to those with Medi-Cal.

MAKING APPOINTMENTS

Elementary School Sites:
- Services are available to community members
- Appointments are made in advance with CCHS Community Health Workers who are bilingual English/Spanish.
- We do our best to accommodate walk-in appointments, but cannot guarantee a same-day appointment.
- All school sites have Community Health Worker contact information.

Middle School & High School Sites:
- Appointments are usually made in advance with CCHS Health Educators
- At middle schools, families can also contact CHWs.
- Students can drop-in the Mobile Clinic on the day of clinic, but cannot guarantee a same-day appointment.

Health Educators provide client-centered counseling to teens and classroom presentations on health issues. Health Educators hold campus office hours to discuss health coverage enrollment and answer questions.

Active & Healthy Families is a pediatric group appointment program designed to treat overweight and obesity through lifestyle/behavior changes. The program is open to children 5-12 years of age who are overweight and obese and referred by their Contra Costa Health Center/School Based-Clinic medical provider.
